Fourth Sunday After Pentecost

At that time, when the multitude pressed upon Jesus to hear the word of God, He stood by the lake of Genesareth. And He saw two ships standing by the lake; but the fishermen were washing their nets; and going up into one of the ships that was Simon's, He desired him to draw back a little from the land: and sitting He taught the multitudes out of the ship. Now when He had ceased to speak, He said to Simon: Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught. And Simon, answering, said to Him: Master, we have laboured all the night, and have taken nothing, but at Thy word I will let down the net. And when they had done this, they enclosed a very great multitude of fishes; and their net broke: and they beckoned to their partners that were in the other ship, that they should come and help them; and they came, and filled both the ships, so that they were almost sinking. Which when Simon Peter saw, he fell down at Jesus's knees, saying: Depart from me for I am a sinful man, O Lord. For he was wholly astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of fishes which they had taken: and so were also James and John the sons of Zebedee, who were Simon's partners. And Jesus saith to Simon: Fear not, from henceforth thou shalt catch men. And having brought their ships to land, leaving all things, they followed Him.

Little Lesson in Church Music

Earlier in the Church's history there were more proper chants sung at Mass than there are now. The proper chants are generally taken from Holy Scripture, but the sequence is an exception: it frequently refers to Scripture but does not quote it. There are five sequences which remain: Victimae Pascale Laudes for Easter, Veni Sancte Spiritus for Pentecost, Lauda Sion Salvatorem for Corpus Christi, Dies Irae for All Souls, and Stabat Mater for the Seven Sorrows of Mary. The Stabat Mater has become the hymn sung during Stations of the Cross, but the melody of the Sequence is different from the melody of the hymn at Stations.
