Dear Faithful of Old St. Patrick Oratory,

Canon Pierre Bivouli, a native of Mouila, Gabon, who was ordained a priest for the Institute in 2015, is coming to join Canon Stein at the Oratory and will be in residence at the Priory over the coming months. You may have already heard about the Institute's African Missions in Gabon from Canon Stein, who spent three years there as a deacon and then as a priest. Canon Stein and Canon Bivouli also overlapped for a few years during their time at the Institute's international seminary in Gricigliano, Italy.

Having already enjoyed his first visit to the United States as a seminarian on summer apostolate, Canon Bivouli is glad for the opportunity to visit America once again, this time for an experience among you faithful in Kansas City over the coming months. He will be improving his English and learning about life as a Canon in the United States at the altar, in the confessional, and on visits to homes and hospitals. I know that Canon Bivouli's presence will benefit the life of the growing spiritual family of Old St. Patrick Oratory, while offering you all a fresh perspective on the universality of our Catholic Faith. His joyous and friendly demeanor might even encourage some of you to pick up a little of his native French language!

Thanking you in advance for welcoming Canon Pierre Bivouli to Kansas City, I am also happy to let you know that Abbé Mark Halisky, clerical oblate in the Institute for the past several years, will be arriving in time to join the Canons on the Feast of Christ the King in his new assignment at the Oratory.

With my deepest appreciation for your prayerful and generous support of the Institute clergy in Kansas City and beyond, I am mindful of you at the holy altar each day during the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Wishing you a blessed remainder of this month dedicated to Our Lady of the Most Holy Rosary, I remain,

Faithfully yours in Christ the King,
Canon Matthew Talarico, US Provincial Superior
