NO Sundays Vespers and Benediction in July and August

An explanation of some rites of the Extraordinary Form of the Mass

Benedict XVI in his Motu Proprio (July 2007) encourages all Catholics to acquire a "notable liturgical formation and a deep, personal familiarity with the earlier form of the liturgical celebration". We will then explore the theological, historical, devotional, liturgical, ritualistic, architectural, artistic, linguistic, practical, legalistic, mystical… aspects of the august Sacrifice.

Haec Dona, Haec Munera, Haec Sancta Sacrificia Illibata.

Three terms responding to three realities are used but they are all about the one and same thing that is placed here upon the altar: our offering. Dona refers to something that is given out of pure generosity, with no necessity or strings attached. That is the pure gift or the gift of a king to his subject, of a superior to an inferior. Munera implies a duty. I give because I have received. That is the gift of a subject to his superior, or even the payment of a due. Sancta Sacrificia Illibata, "holy and unspotted sacrifices", designs what those Munera and Dona must be: We might offer the Mass out of genuine and pure generosity or because of the obligation that flows from our state of creature, but nothing impure or defiled can be given to God.

The Gospel of the day reminded us that we must be careful of what we bring to God and how the intention and the purity of our heart is necessary. Commenting on these words, St Cyprien wrote about people not bringing offerings to the Celebration: "You are rich, and yet you come to the assembly without sacrifice."
