FROM THE DESK OF THE RECTOR

Very dear faithful,

Today we celebrate the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel. Today's Gospel passage taken from Saint Matthew is where faced with a discussion between the Apostles of who among the was the greatest, Our Lord called a little child before Himself and said, "Unless you turn and become like little children, you will not enter into the kingdom of Heaven."

Humility is the lesson of today's Gospel. It is the foundation of all other virtues in the human soul. By the virtue of humility, we understand who we are and our rightful place before God. We do not consider ourselves suitable for something that God has not willed for us. This is pride, the sin of Lucifer. Saint Michael knew his place before God, not desiring in any inordinate way the things that God did not want for him.

His humility is even more impressive when we consider how much superior is his angelic nature to our human nature. And yet, he prostrated himself in joyous adoration at the feet of the Infant God and then rose up to sing: "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace to men of good will.

Saint Michael the Archangel, protect us in battle.

In prayerful union, Canon Sequeira

Paul and Christians of the first generation understood the doctrine in this thoroughly realistic way. They knew how our Lord demanded faith, as we read in John 6. Belief in the Eucharist presupposes faith. The body that is present in the Eucharist is that of Christ now reigning in heaven, the same body which Christ received from Adam, the same body which was made to die on the cross, but different in the sense that it has been transformed. In the words of Paul, "It is the same with the resurrection of the dead; the thing that is sown is perishable, what is raised is imperishable; the thing that is sown is contemptible, but what is raised is glorious; the thing that is sown is weak, but what is raised is powerful; when it is sown it embodies the soul, when it is raised it embodies the spirit" (1 Cor. 15:42-44). This spiritualized body was a physical reality, as Thomas discovered. "Put your finger here; look, here are my hands. Give me your hand and put it into my side" (John 20:27). It is this glorious body which is now, under the appearance of bread, communicated to us.

We know that Paul writes that he is handing on a tradition which he received from the Lord. He tells the Galatians, "The good news I preach is not a human message that I was given by men, it is something I learned only through a revelation of Jesus Christ" (Gal. 1:11-12). Likewise to the Philippians: "Keep doing all the things that you have learned from me and have been taught by me and have heard or seen that I do" (Phil. 4:9). To the Colossians he writes, "You must live your whole life according to the Christ you have received—Jesus the Lord" (Col. 2:6).

If Paul is handing on a tradition, we ask where it comes from. Clearly it stems from Christ. Paul stresses this over and over. "Through the good news that we brought he called you to this so that you should share the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ. Stand firm, then, brothers, and keep the traditions that we taught you, whether by word of mouth or by letter" (2 Thess. 2:14-15). In the same way he said to Timothy, "Keep as your pattern the sound teaching you have heard from me" (2 Tim. 1:13). The apostle is not referring to just any kind of tradition. His is a tradition that must be believed because Christ himself proclaimed it with his own authority. Christ is the fountainhead of all God's wonderful work. He is the Master, and we must submit to his teaching. "You call me Master and Lord and rightly so: So I am" (John 13:14).

WISDOM OF ST. FRANCIS DE SALES

Let us never give up when we feel discouraged by our weakness; let us keep going, ignoring the barking of the dogs, just as traveling salesmen do.

We must renounce all useless desires, because the soul wastes its energy when it scatters itself over many desires.

Our Lord will give us peace in this life only when we humble ourselves and suffer patiently, because life is a warfare.

Speak as little as possible about yourself, whether in praise or in criticism. Self-love generally blinds us even when we speak badly of ourselves.

It is better to completely overcome the passion of anger than to try to engage in it with moderation and wisdom. As soon as the slightest bit of anger is introduced into the soul, it soon becomes its master and tyrant,

NOVENA PRAYER TO OUR LADY OF GUADALUPE

O Virgin Mother of God, we fly to your protection and beg your intercession against the darkness and sin which ever more envelop the world and menace the Church. Your Son, Our Lord Jesus Christ, gave you to us as our mother as He died on the Cross for our salvation. So too, in 1531, when darkness and sin beset us, He sent you, as Our Lady of Guadalupe, on Tepeyac to lead us to Him Who alone is our light and our salvation.

Through your apparitions on Tepeyac and your abiding presence with us on the miraculous mantle of your messenger, Saint Juan Diego, millions of souls converted to faith in your Divine Son. Through this novena and our consecration to you, we humbly implore your intercession for our daily conversion of life to Him and the conversion of millions more who do not yet believe in Him. In our homes and in our nation, lead us to Him Who alone wins the victory over sin and darkness in us and in the world.

Unite our hearts to your Immaculate Heart so that they may find their true and lasting home in the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus. Ever guide us along the pilgrimage of life to our eternal home with Him. So may our hearts, one with yours, always trust in God's promise of salvation, in His never-failing mercy toward all who turn to Him with a humble and contrite heart. Through this novena and our consecration to you, O Virgin of Guadalupe, lead all souls in America and throughout the world to your Divine Son in Whose name we pray. Amen.
